

DEPUTY PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

I've just come out of Elgregoe's final show at Roxburgh Area School. What an inspirational and entertaining show both Greg and Sue have presented over the last 25 years. Many generations of RAS students have appreciated their dedication and commitment to promoting the values of caring, acceptance, trustworthiness, responsibility, and respect. We wish them well.

Our Year 9 students left for camp at Glendhu Bay on Tuesday. We hear that they are having lots of fun and are enjoying the pleasant early autumn weather. Mr McDowall is joining them this morning for their big walk/scramble up Rocky Mountain - the views should be spectacular!

Our Junior School students enjoyed their week of swimming classes and we thank the Alexandra and Cromwell Swimming School teams for all their work. The skills presented around water safety are important and timely life lessons.

Tomorrow we are joined by schools from Millers Flat, Poolburn, Alexandra and Omakau for the Year

1-8 Small Schools Athletics Sports. This is always a great day of friendly competition and we encourage parents to come along and support the students. A big

Thank You to Mrs Darling and Mrs Robb for all the planning that goes into this day.

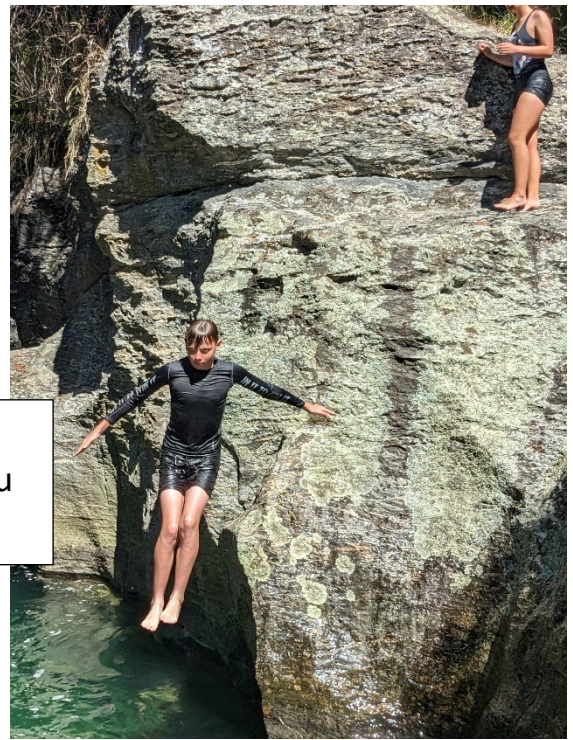

We are already at the end of week 5! Where does time go?
Have a great weekend. Jason Moore DP

Stories from Year 7 & 8 Berwick Camp

"You're clipped in mate," said Hayden. The bird chirping was silenced by my heavy breathing. I was told that the cliff was 12 metres, but in my mind it was 1200 metres tall. I loosen the rope and walk off the small platform, and for a moment I was levitating until I floated back to the wall. My shoes clung onto the mesh wire and I was held in place. My legs thrust me back and I lowered myself down the wall.

Relief filled me when my shoes came into contact with the concrete. With determination to get off the wall, I jumped back and gripped onto the rocks, or so I thought. I was sitting there resting when my shoe slipped and I panicked as I swung toward the cliff. I braced for the impact, not daring to let the thick, grippy, orange rope. I slammed into the sharp rocky cliff, my helmet taking the brunt of the impact. I was snapped out of a state of shock from Hayden asking me, "Are you alright?". In a shaky voice I said, "Yep, all good." I continued to rappel down the rock face until my feet touched the ground. Joy filled me.

Jacob McDonald

The smell of stink weed put me off as I crawled past, and the wind and rain tugged on the wire. I had the fear of slipping and sliding back and hitting the tree, and the fear of falling with my safety ropes snapping to give me a taste of dirt and rock. I had the fear of being half way on the rope and looking down to see someone lying on the ground motionless. But I loved the feeling of freedom as I walked through the trees, the relief of making it to the next course, and the feeling of Mayson, Lucas, Kaspian and others cheering me on. The feeling of knowing that I completed the course. That's what conquering your fear feels like, and it feels good.
